The provision of your personal data on meetyoo websites is generally not required, either for legal or contractual reasons. You are not obliged to provide personal information on this website. Nevertheless, providing the functions of this website requires your personal data to be processed.

Information on the use of cookies

We use cookies on our website. Cookies are small text files that are saved on your device by the respective browser you use when you access meetyoo websites. Individual services on a website can 'recognize' and 'remember' you in this way in terms of which settings you have made. Primarily, this helps to make websites more user-friendly and benefit the user (e.g. by storing login details). Secondly, cookies also help to collect statistical data relating to use of the website by using the data acquired for analysis and advertising purposes.

Some cookies are automatically deleted from your device as soon as you leave the website (what are referred to as 'session cookies'). Other cookies are stored for a period of time that does not exceed two years (persistent cookies). We also use what is referred to as third-party cookies which are managed by third parties in order to provide certain services.

We use the cookie content management tool from Papoo Software & Media GmbH, Auguststr. 4, 53229 Bonn (CCM19) for our websites. The purpose of the cookie consent management tool is to obtain and qualify your consent for the use of cookies and tracking codes via cookie banners on our websites. Information about your consent to the use of cookies and tracking codes, as well as your IP address and device identifier, is stored on MEETYOO's servers in Germany to document your consent. The personal data will be stored for a maximum period of 3 years. The storage is based on Art. 6 para. 1 lit.c in conjunction with Art. 5 para. 2 GDPR (accountability).

You can configure your cookie settings here

You can also control the use of cookies: most browsers have an option for allowing the user to restrict or prevent cookies being saved.. We should point out here, however, that not using cookies can limit your ability to use our website, and, in particular, limit the user experience.

We set cookies only if you have given us permission to do so or as explained within this privacy notice.

In the context of the data processing procedures listed below, we explain the legal basis upon which we base the processing for each processing activity taking place on this website, whether (and if so, which) third parties receive data over cookies and for how long we save the personal data collected with the help of cookies.

Summary of Procedures

Personal data is processed during the following procedures:

1. Visiting meetyoo websites
2. Establishing contact / Business communication
3. Free downloads (white papers)
4. Newsletters
5. Trial access (telephone conference and web conference)
6. Customer surveys
7. Online orders
8. Use of meetyoo services
9. Job application procedures
10. Website use/analysis

11. Advertising

12. Social media

1. Visiting meetyoo websites

Each time meetyoo websites are called up, we automatically collect a set of technical data that is specific to the individual person making the visit.

This comprises:

- The IP address of the user
- The name of the web page or file retrieved
- The date and time access was made
- The volume of data transferred
- Notification of successful retrieval
- The browser type and version
- The user's operating system
- The user's end device, including MAC address
- The referring URL (previous website visited)

This data is not merged with any other personally identifiable data that you actively provide when visiting meetyoo websites. We collect server log files for the purpose of administering the website and detecting and preventing unauthorized access.

Notes on IP Addresses

IP addresses are assigned to each device (e.g. smartphone, tablet, PC) connected to the Internet. The IP address depends on the Internet access point your device currently uses to connect to the Internet. It may be the IP address that your Internet service provider has assigned to you, e.g. if you are connected to the Internet at home using your wi-fi connection. It may also be an IP address that your mobile service provider has assigned to you or the IP address from a public or private wi-fi point or other Internet access provider. In its current form (IPv4), the IP address consists of four digits. In most cases, you will not be assigned a permanent IP address as a private user, but a temporary one assigned to you by your provider (what is referred to as a 'dynamic IP address'). In the case of a permanently assigned IP address (what is referred to as a 'static IP address'), the clear assignment of user data is simpler in principle. Except for purposes of tracking unauthorized access to our Internet offering, we generally do not use this data specific to an individual person, but analyze it on an anonymous basis only, such as in terms of which of our websites are most popular, how often are they accessed every day and similar statistics.

Our website already supports the new IPv6 address standard. If you already have an IPv6 address, you also need to be aware of the following: an IPv6 address consists of eight blocks of four. As with full IPv4 addresses, the first four blocks are typically assigned to private users dynamically. The last four blocks of the IPv6 address (what are referred to as "interface identifiers") are determined by the device you are using to browse the website. Insofar as this is not set differently in your operating system, what is referred as the MAC address is used for this. The MAC address is a kind of serial number that is unique to each IP-capable device worldwide. For this reason, we do not store the last four blocks of your IPv6 address. In general, we recommend enabling the "privacy extensions" on your device in order to better anonymize the last four blocks of your IPv6 address. Most standard operating systems have a privacy extensions function, which in some cases is not factory-set.

Legal Basis

The personal data in log files is processed on the basis of Art. 6 (1) (f) GDPR. This legal permission allows personal data to be processed in the context of the 'legitimate interest' of the data controller unless your fundamental rights, freedoms, or interests prevail. Our legitimate interest lies in simplifying administration and enabling us to detect and track hacking. You can object to your personal data being processed at any time if your particular situation gives rise to reasons that call the processing of your personal data into question. All you need to do is send an email to [privacy \[at\] meetyoo.com](mailto:privacy@meetyoo.com).

Duration of Data Storage

The server log files containing the forgoing data are deleted automatically after 30 days. If facts exist that suggest that unauthorized access can be assumed (such as attempts at hacking or what are referred to as 'DDOS attacks'), we reserve the right to store the server log files for longer.

2. Establishing Contact / Business communication

When contact is made with us (such as over the contact form or by email), the information you provide is saved for purposes of processing the enquiry and in the eventuality that there are follow-up questions.

If you represent a company in communication with us, the processing is based on Art. 6 para. 1 lit. f GDPR, whereby our legitimate interest lies in the establishment and support of business relationships. You can object to this data processing at any time if there are reasons that exist in your particular situation and that speak against the data processing. For this purpose, it is sufficient to send an e-mail to [privacy \[at\] meetyoo.com](mailto:privacy@meetyoo.com).

In individual cases, the processing may also be based on Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a GDPR, if you have given us your consent for the contact or correspondence. The following provides you with more information about meetyoo services:

meetyoo conferencing GmbH
Friedrichstraße 153a
10117 Berlin, Germany

a) Telephone Conference/AudioEvent

You receive access data from the organizer so that you can participate in the telephone conference or audio event. You dial in with a dial-in number and a PIN, if applicable. When you participate in a telephone conference, the call details are recorded, including the date and time of the call, the number, the dial-in number, and the duration of the call. Call data is subject to telecommunications secrecy and the strict provisions of the German Telecommunications Act (TKG). We use the call details for billing purposes only and to provide the conference room owner/organizer with statistics about their telephone conference in an abridged (anonymized) form. When registering for an audio event, we may also ask you to provide us with registration details by phone or online registration, which we record. As standard, this is your name, company and email address. We collect registration details on behalf of the organizer responsible exclusively. The aforementioned registration details are transferred to the organizer within the framework of fulfilling the contract. We do not process this data ourselves for our own purposes.

b) WebConference

Participants need to register for the web conference in advance, or they receive an invitation from the organizer directly. The invitation, which is usually sent by email, contains a link for accessing the web conference and an access PIN.

Within the context of providing the web conference, we collect, process, store and use personal information during participation as follows: Your name and PIN are processed within the context of participating in the web conference. To facilitate the technical provision of the services, we process your IP address, technical information about the end device and browser used, including the version and any plugins installed, technical information for data transmissions, such as access status/HTTP status code, data volume and any technical error codes, as well the date and time when the web conference is used.

When participating in the web conference, you may be given the opportunity to ask the presenter, organiser or other participants questions and make your own contributions in chat sessions or audio transmissions. The time, duration and circumstances of your participation in the respective web conference are recorded. This data is used to allow the initiator of the conference to be billed, allow him to control and manage the event and, if required, safeguard the evaluation of the event afterward. Information about how your data is used is available from the initiator of the web conference.

c) Customer Portal

Personal registration is required to use the meetyoo customer portal. To register, the user uses his email address for his username and selects a personal password. To activate his conference rooms in the customer portal, the user authorizes himself using a moderator PIN. The customer portal allows our customers to manage their conference rooms, invoices, and conference records/statistics, and control telephone and web conferencing events. While using the customer portal, the server log files are stored along with behavioral data concerning the use of the various portal functions, so that the customer can track the change history (e.g. address changes) during later customer inquiries.

d) Outlook Add-In

To make organising your telephone and web conferences easy, we offer you an Outlook add-in which you can download from the Microsoft Office Library. The Outlook add-in allows you to quickly and easily organise your telephone or web conference from Outlook directly and invite your participants. Predefined conference information, such as invitation text, dial-in numbers and conference PIN are sent together with your meeting request and stored as an appointment in the calendar. Condition for using the app is a meetyoo conference room (<https://meetyoo.com/products/business-meeting/>) in the tariffs BusinessAudio or BusinessMeeting and access to the meetyoo customer portal (<https://portal.meetyoo.de/>).

Legal Basis

Processing personal data in the context of using meetyoo services takes place on the basis of Art. 6 (1) (b) GDPR.

In accordance with Art. 6. (1) (b) GDPR, data processing is then allowed when required for fulfilling a contract. We need to process the personal information detailed in this section in order to be able to make meetyoo services available to you in accordance with the contract.

Duration of Data Storage

Connection data from telephone conferences is deleted no later than 6 months after invoicing in accordance with the German Telecommunications Telemedia Privacy Law (TTDSG). We keep records in our system for the contracting party for up to 55 days. After this period, this data is also deleted. Credentials for audio events are deleted 6 months after billing. Registration data is stored for as long as it is necessary for using the service and is deleted on request. The personal data associated with your registration/participation in a webcast, virtual fair or media library, provided by giving feedback or answering questions and responding to and participating in online tests, is deleted no later than 12 months after the on-demand version expires. The standard period of archiving for a webcast is 3-12 months (depending on the job commissioned by the organiser). Registration data for media library users (collection of webcasts) who have not logged in to the media library for a maximum period of 3 years is deleted automatically when this period expires

Owing to retention periods laid down by the German Tax Code (AO) and Commercial Code (HGB), tax-relevant personal data which is processed in the context of using meetyoo services is stored for up to 10 years after the end of a specific conference (e.g. orders, offer forms etc.).

9. Job Application Procedures

These positions are published on our meetyoo website ("Careers") and other online job boards. We use "Personio", a service of Personio GmbH. Personio GmbH is a provider of online application management software based in Germany, Rundfunkplatz 4, 80335 Munich.

The only mandatory personal data we collect is the personal data required for completing the application process. If we collect data that is not absolutely necessary, it is only collected voluntarily. Mandatory information is always marked as such. We treat your personal data confidentially at all times and process it exclusively for the purpose of processing your application to our company. Processing as a part of the application procedure includes pre-selection of the applications we receive, invitations to and performance of interviews and follow-up interviews, including sending out acceptance or rejection letters to candidates. The transmission or disclosure to third parties of your data does not take place, unless this is necessary for fulfilling the contractual relationship, if we are obliged to do so by law or if you have consented to it being disclosed accordingly.

The following data is collected and processed for the purpose of automatically processing your application:

Google Analytics uses several "cookies" (see above) to identify your browser. The information on how you use meetyoo websites generated by the cookies is usually transferred to a Google server in the USA and stored there. However, we have enabled the IP anonymisation function on this website so that your IP address is truncated by Google, if it is located within the member states of the European Union or other parties to the agreement on the European Economic Area. Google uses this information on behalf of the operator of our website to evaluate how you use meetyoo websites in order to compile reports on website activity to provide the website operator with website and internet-related services. As a part of the Google Analytics service, the IP address transferred by your browser is not merged with other data from Google.

We use Google Tag Manager. Google Tag Manager is a tool from Google LLC ("Google"), 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. Google Ireland Limited, Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland is responsible for the European region. Google Tag Manager is a solution that marketers use to be able to manage web page tags from a single interface. The Tag Manager tool itself (which implements the tags) is a cookie-free domain. The tool serves for triggering other tags that, in themselves, may collect data in certain circumstances. Google Tag Manager does not access this data. Google Tag Manager itself does not process personal data. If disabled at domain or cookie level, it remains in effect for all tracking tags implemented with Google Tag Manager. Turning off tracking in your browser prevents Google Tag Manager from functioning in full.

We use Google reCAPTCHA. Google reCAPTCHA is a service from Google LLC ("Google"), 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. This feature allows us to provide more data security when submitting forms. By using Google reCAPTCHA, a distinction is made between whether the entries on a form are made by a natural person, or whether misuse took place by automated entries being made. A minimum of your IP address is transmitted to Google in this context. The IP address transferred as a part of Google reCAPTCHA is not merged with other data from Google.

In accordance with Art. 28 GDPR, we have concluded an agreement on order processing including the EU standard contract clauses with Google Ireland Limited on advertising products.

We use Hotjar to better understand the needs of our users and optimise the service on this website. Hotjar technology helps us to get a better understanding of the experiences our users make (e.g. the amount of time users spend on which pages, which links they click on, what they like and what they do not like etc.), which helps us to align our service to the feedback provided by our users. Hotjar uses cookies and other technologies to collect information about the behaviour of our users and their devices (in particular, the IP address of the device (recorded and stored in anonymous form only), screen size, unique device identifiers, information about the browser used, location (country only) and preferred language for displaying our website). Hotjar stores this information in a pseudonymous user profile. Neither Hotjar nor we use this information to identify individual users, nor it is aggregated with other data about individual users.

For more information, please refer to the Hotjar Privacy Policy here.

In accordance with Art. 28 GDPR, we have concluded an agreement with Hotjar for order processing. You can object to Hotjar storing a user profile and information about your visit to our website, including Hotjar tracking cookies being set on other websites, by clicking on this opt-out link.

We use HubSpot, a service from HubSpot Inc., for analysis purposes. HubSpot is a US-based software house with a presence in Ireland. We use the Net Zero website label from Tree-Nation. This is a service of Tree-Nation ASBL, a non-profit organisation based in Belgium, Avenue des Saisons 90, 1050 Brussels. Tree-Nation ASBL is dedicated to supporting reforestation projects worldwide. For this purpose, Tree-Nation operates the website <https://tree-nation.com>.

Tree-Nation's "Net Zero Website" smart label used by meetyoo records the number of page views on meetyoo websites. The information collected on the number of page views is statistically anonymised by Tree-Nation in order to calculate the associated CO2 emissions. Tree-Nation arranges for trees to be planted to compensate for these emissions.

To ensure transparency, the Net Zero website label on the meetyoo website is linked to an information website of Tree-Nation, which displays statistics on CO2 offsetting, the number of trees planted and information about meetyoo.

For more information, see the Tree-Nation ASBL Terms of Use and Privacy Policy, respectively, at <https://tree-nation.com/legal/terms-of-use> and at <https://tree-nation.com/legal/privacy-policy>.

Legal Basis

We base the processing of personal data by the above-mentioned services on Art. 6, Paragraph 1, Letter a of the GDPR. This provision permits the processing of personal data within the scope of the consent of the person concerned. Consent is obtained via the Cookie Banner Tool, which is integrated on the websites. Here you can access your cookie settings directly. You can also revoke this consent for the future via the cookie tool. The IP address transferred as a part of Google services is not merged with other data from Google. You can prevent the data generated by cookies and the data relating to your use of the website (incl. your IP address) being transferred and processed by making the appropriate settings in your browser and for Google Analytics, by downloading and installing the browser plug-in available from the following link: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=en>.

Duration of Data Storage

The data is not stored here by MEETYOO in a personalized manner. Immediately after the data is collected, it is converted into statistics and made completely anonymous.

11. Advertising

We use Google Ads Conversion Tracking. Google AdWords Conversion Tracking is an analytics service from Google LLC ("Google"), 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. Google Ireland

Limited, Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland is responsible for the European region.

Google Ads sets a cookie on your computer ('conversion cookie') if you arrive at our website over a Google ad. These cookies lose their validity after 30 days and are not used for personal identification. If you visit certain pages on our websites and the cookie has not yet expired, both we and Google can recognize that someone clicked on the ad and was therefore redirected to our website. Each Ads customer receives a different cookie. This means that said cookies cannot be tracked through the Ads' customers' websites. The information gathered using the conversion cookie is used to generate conversion statistics for Ads advertisers who have opted for conversion tracking. Ads customers are informed of the total number of users who have clicked on their ad and were redirected to a conversion tracking tag page. They do not receive any information that personally identifies users, however.

We use Google Marketing Platform products (e.g. Campaign Manager 360, Display and Video 360, Search Ads 360) These are web services from Google LLC ("Google"), 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. Google Ireland Limited, Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland is responsible for the European region.

In this process, the advertising is optimised with the help of a cookie, e.g. by displaying advertising relevant to the user, etc. This is carried out by sending corresponding cookies to your browser, which can be used to check which ads were shown and which ads you viewed. Information that results from the use of the cookie is usually transmitted to a Google server in the USA and stored there. The data is only transferred to third parties if Google is required to do so by law, or if there is a data processing agreement between the third party and Google. The data assets that Google collects about you are not merged with other data.

In accordance with Art. 28 GDPR, we have concluded an agreement on order processing including the EU standard contract clauses with Google Ireland

Limited on advertising products.

We use the technologies of Microsoft Advertising (<https://ads.microsoft.com/>), which are provided and operated by Microsoft Corporation, One Microsoft Way, Redmond, WA 98052-6399, USA (Microsoft). Microsoft will set a cookie on your terminal device if you have reached our website via a Microsoft Bing Ad. We, along with Microsoft, can then determine that someone has clicked on our ad, has been directed to our website, and has reached a predetermined target page (conversion site). We only learn about the total number of users that clicked on the Bing Ad and were then directed to the conversion site. Microsoft collects, processes and uses information about the cookie from which user profiles are created using pseudonyms. These user profiles serve to analyze visitor behavior and are used to display advertisements. No personal information about the identity of the user is processed. If you do not wish that information regarding your behavior is used by Microsoft as explained above, you can refuse the cookie needed for this, for example by deactivating the automatic setting of cookies in your browser settings. You can also prevent the collection of data generated by the cookie and by your use of the website, as well as the processing of this data by Microsoft, by stating your opposition under the following link. More information on data protection and cookies used by Microsoft Advertising can be found on the Microsoft website.

We use Microsoft Clarity. "Microsoft Clarity" is a Microsoft procedure that enables user analysis on the basis of a pseudonymous user ID and thus on the basis of pseudonymous data, such as the evaluation of data on mouse movements. In particular, we process usage data (e.g. websites visited, interest in content, access times), meta/communication data (e.g. device information, IP addresses), location data, movement data (mouse movements, scroll movements) in pseudonymised form. We have made the corresponding settings in such a way that the data collection to and by Microsoft alone is pseudonymised, in particular in the form of IP masking (pseudonymisation of the IP address). The purpose of the processing is tracking, e.g. the use of cookies, remarketing and conversion measurements.

To optimize our advertising service, we use the Facebook service Customer Audience and the Facebook Pixel on our website, provided that you have granted Facebook corresponding consent to do so. Further information about these Facebook services and the privacy policy of Meta Platforms Ireland Limited, 4 Grand Canal Square, Grand Canal Harbour, Dublin 2, Ireland ("Facebook") can be accessed here. If you use a Facebook user account, the Facebook cookies used to transfer the user data collected to Facebook for analysis and marketing purposes can recognize the Facebook pixel on our website. You can review and/or disable the collection of this data and its further processing and use by Facebook directly on Facebook. The Facebook pixel is a JavaScript code that transfers the following data to Facebook:

-HTTP header information (including IP address, information about your web browser, page storage location, document, URL of the website visited and the web browser user agent as well as the day and time of use)

-Pixel-specific data; this includes the Pixel ID and Facebook cookie data, including your Facebook ID (this data is used to link events to a specific Facebook advertising account and assign them to a Facebook user)

-Additional information about the visit to our website, as well as standard and user-defined data events.

The data processing mentioned above only affects users who have a Facebook account or have accessed a Facebook partner page (meaning that a cookie has been set). The display of advertising on Facebook (partner) pages using the "Customer Audience" service does not impact upon users who are not Facebook members. If the Facebook ID contained in the Facebook cookie can be assigned to a Facebook user, Facebook will assign this user to a target group ("Custom Audience") based on the rules we have defined, provided that the rules apply. We use the information received in this way for presenting Facebook (partner) pages. You can set an opt-out cookie on Facebook or disable JavaScript in your browser if you want to object to the use of Facebook Pixel. For more information and the setting options for protecting your privacy for advertising purposes, please refer to the privacy policy from Facebook.

The information generated by the cookie on how you use our website is usually transferred to a Capterra server in the USA and stored there. You can object to the collection, processing and recording of data generated by Capterra at any time.
